

Call for Participants

Interdisciplinary Gender Studies Summer School 2020

Ambivalent in_visibilities – reflecting research perspectives matters.

September 21 – 26, 2020

University of Vienna

The Gender Studies Summer School 2020 offers in-depth exchange on current research issues with a crossdisciplinary, intersectional, feminist focus on in_visibilities in historical public and private spaces, qualitative-empirical research, anti-discrimination law and narratives in comics. Next to these debates, students will also be trained in and exercise presentation skills.

The blended learning programme consists of 5-days-attendance week (September 21 – 26, 2020) and preparatory online self- study (starting by mid-August, 2020).

- Lectures, seminars and workshops are led by experienced scholars from European Universities
- Participants will receive and give feedback on master thesis or dissertation projects
- We offer a supportive learning environment and resources to build a community of practice of students and teachers.

Who can apply?

- We invite advanced master students and early stage PhD students in Gender and Queer Studies, Gender and Women's History, Legal Gender Studies and Queer Philologies / Literature Studies, whose current thesis addresses one of the thematic strands of our programme
